

SISZER, TAMÁS Head of Didactic at Festo Kft.

Tamás Siszer is an engineering manager with a postgraduate degree in bank informatics. After completing studies he has been working at Oracle University the education unit of the company. Since 2011 he has been working at Festo Didactic, as sales consultant and starting 2016 as the director of the field. He unites the information technology, industrial automation and education sector experience to work on individual solutions towards digitized factory. As a member of several working groups in the Hungarian industry 4.0 Technology Platform, he is actively participating in preparing the Hungarian market for the challenges of industry 4.0.